This is the revelation from Jesus Christ, given to John, so all God's servants might see what is imminent.

Blessed are the proclaimer and the hearers of this prophecy, provided they obey the things written in it;
for the time of fulfillment is near.

"I am the Alpha and the Omega,"
says the Lord God,
"who is and who was and who is to come,
the sovereign Lord of all."

The Lord Jesus – whose crucifixion and resurrection has freed us from our sins and inaugurated the new creation; who is always among us; who has complete sovereignty over human history; who sees everything, understands everything, and is the final judge over everything; who does not waver from a foundation of moral purity; who has the authority to grant or deny access to the presence of God; who searches the thoughts and intentions of every person; and who always speaks the truth – he proclaims to all who have placed their trust in him:

If you are struggling to maintain your beliefs; if you tolerate evil people; if you are being led into the worship of money and popularity; if you think your wealth gives you security; if you have become indistinguishable from the culture in which you live; if your commitment to me is wavering; if you lack faith... Turn back to me.

Give up your sinful ways. Love others wholeheartedly; serve them physically and spiritually. Lead others to believe in me. Depend on me rather than trusting financial and governmental institutions.

Remain faithful to me until the end even in the face of opposition, and I will give you resurrection to eternal life in the presence of God. You will be co-rulers with me and my Father.

I am coming soon.
